

During the decade that the Civil War occurred, the Nashville City Cemetery had the largest number of burials.

Burials for Men & Women 1860-1869

The Battle of Nashville (December 1864) did contribute casualties, but effects from the war were felt beyond the battlefield for men and women.

Pre, during, and post Civil War many deaths occurred in all age groups due to diseases and deaths were not exclusive to war casualties.

